LIVE MUSIC CAPITAL OF THE WORLD®

THE ULTIMATE FIELD GUIDE

WELCOME

On behalf of the Austin LGBT Chamber of Commerce, welcome to Austin! This guide includes just a sampling of our members' businesses, but it won't take long for you to experience what makes Austin the third-largest LGBTQ population in the United States, while LGBT-owned businesses in our area represent $11.77 billion in potential economic power. Austin's friendly and progressive atmosphere has allowed our community to flourish while making the entire city a gayborhood. LGBT Austinites have also enjoyed protections through municipal nondiscrimination ordinances in employment, housing and other public areas for over a decade. We invite you to experience Austin's history, unique culture and of course some of the local businesses featured in these pages. While you're in town, interact with us via #AustinLGBTBiz, an ongoing campaign highlighting the economic power harnessed in LGBT owned and allied businesses.

EDGAR GIERBOLINI
PRESIDENT & CEO
AUSTIN LGBT CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Welcome! At Visit Austin, we invite you to experience Austin like a local — stroll through our vibrant neighborhoods, catch a show at one of more than 250 live music venues, and take in the scenes on water or land. Austin's history is filled with advocates from and for the LGBTQ community, and we invite you to experience the sense of community while you're here. We're especially proud to be ranked #3 in the US and #24 in the world on Nestpick's "Best LGBTQ Cities 2017" list. If we can be of assistance during your stay, please stop by the Austin Visitor Center, connect with us on social media @VisitAustinTX or just tap a friendly Austinite on the shoulder. We're happy you're here and wish you an enjoyable stay.

DOWNTOWN

AUSTIN VISITOR CENTER
602 E 4TH STREET

A rowing team of nine people is shown in a long, narrow boat on a body of water. The water is a deep blue with ripples. The rowers are wearing athletic gear and are in a synchronized rowing motion. The boat is white with some dark markings. The background is a vast expanse of blue water.

DOWNTOWN

Museums, gay dance clubs, a hike-and-bike trail around the lake — there's something happening all day and all night in this city center.

In 2012, a five-block section of West Fourth Street was renamed after Bettie Naylor, longtime Austin advocate for the rights of women and the LGBTQ community. We're proud of our local queer heroes! #queeroes

EXPLORE DOWNTOWN

LADY BIRD LAKE

Get a view of the city from the water. This centrally located outdoor destination offers kayaking, canoeing and stand-up paddleboarding as well as a gorgeous 10 mile hike-and-bike trail.

Insider Tip: About half an hour before sundown from March to October, watch in awe as 1.5 million bats emerge from the Ann W. Richards Congress Avenue Bridge.

OILCAN HARRY'S

Stop by OCH, the oldest gay bar in town, for weekly drag shows, late-night dancing and stiff drinks served by a super friendly bar staff.

Insider Tip: Into sports? The back bar at OCH has been turned into a sports bar called Score.

RAIN

Just two doors down from OCH, you'll find this quintessential gay club. We're talking DJs blasting pop remixes, a light-up dance floor and weekly amateur strip-off competitions.

SELLERS UNDERGROUND

Want to sit down and sip a classy mixed drink on your way from one dance party to another? This swanky cocktail lounge is conveniently located directly in between OCH and Rain.

HIGHLAND

A popular gay lounge and dance club, this venue features guest DJs, dance competitions and themed events like drag queen bingo. Drag. Queen. Bingo!

THE CONTEMPORARY AUSTIN - JONES CENTER

Visit this 5,000-square-foot museum to see multidisciplinary exhibitions of contemporary art from all over the world.

IRON BEAR

The only bear bar in town doesn't care if you're a bear; cubs, otters, wolves, and everyone else is welcome here, too.

Insider Tip: Go on Sunday for a free karaoke party.

PARAMOUNT THEATRE

This beautiful theater is more than 100 years old and hosts film screenings, live music and other performances.

ACL LIVE AT THE MOODY THEATER

Home of Austin City Limits, the longest running music series in American TV history, this is also a popular venue for live music and other performances.

Insider Tip: Even if there's not a show while you're in town, you can still tour the venue Monday through Friday, 11 a.m. - noon to see where the TV show is filmed.

FACES OF AUSTIN

LAGINA HARRIS

DIRECTOR OF EVENTS AT SELLERS UNDERGROUND

LaGina is a strong supporter of the local LGBTQ community, working with and donating her art to organizations like Out Youth, Keep Austin Queer and others. Her top-three suggestions for Austin first timers are to (1) eat at a local restaurant like Red Ash or Casita Boriqua, (2) attend a festival at Auditorium Shores or Zilker Park and (3) enjoy the fine arts with a visit to one of our museums or theaters.

LaGina loves hanging out on Fourth Street, but says that the gay community in Austin is so large there is always a party, charity function or sports event to attend somewhere. She suggests exploring the Austin LGBTQ groups on Meetup and Facebook to get the scoop about what's going on.

RAINEY STREET

Made up of converted bungalows, this is a walkable neighborhood of bars and restaurants where you can find everything from cheap eats to fine dining.

EMMER & RYE

Inspired by the farmer's haul, this beautiful dining spot serves seasonal New American cuisine. Order off a menu that changes daily or select nightly specials from the dim sum cart circulating the room.

G'RAJ MAHAL CAFÉ & LOUNGE

What started as one of the first food trailers in this area is now a full restaurant, serving Indian comfort food in a chill environment.

LUSTRE PEARL

Known for tall boys, cocktails and hula hoops, visiting this bar with its huge backyard is like hanging out at a fancy home in the country.

GERALDINE'S

Located on the fourth floor of Hotel Van Zandt, this restaurant serves up picturesque views of Lady Bird Lake and regular live music to go with their innovative dishes that highlight seasonal flavors of Central Texas.

TJE AUSTIN
MUSICIAN

Local musician Tje Austin garnered some national attention with an appearance on the first season of The Voice in 2011, but he's been performing around town since 2001.

For those visiting, Tje's top-three recommendations are (1) dinner at Geraldine's in the Hotel Van Zandt, (2) breakfast tacos from Papalote Taco House and (3) hanging with friends at Cosmic Coffee and Beer Garden.

As for go-to LGBTQ spots, Tje says he knows he'll have a good time pretty much anywhere he goes in Austin, but favors Cheer Up Charlies, the Alamo Drafthouse and Rain.

RED RIVER

With a strip of venues up and down both sides of the street, this is a popular destination for live music as well as dancing and food trucks.

Red River is home to Austin's growing alternative drag scene with multiple shows a month at Elysium and Cheer Up Charlies.

EXPLORE RED RIVER

KORIENTE

Grab a quick bite before a night out from this family-owned eatery that serves fresh and healthy pan-Asian food cooked to order.

EMPIRE CONTROL ROOM

Self-described as a “modern music space and watering hole” Empire is a great setting for local live music of all genres.

THE MOHAWK

With a large stage outside and a more intimate one inside, this is the prime spot to see an indie rock show by your favorite band and your favorite band’s favorite band.

CHEER UP CHARLIES

Listen to live music, dance under a parachute and drink kombucha from the tap at this LGBTQ-owned indoor/outdoor venue. Be sure to try the vegan Bac’n Cheeze Burger from onsite food truck Arlo’s.

Insider Tip: Go on the last Wednesday of the month for “Greetings, from Queer Mountain” – a free LGBTQ storytelling showcase.

SWAN DIVE

This live music venue is connected to Barbarella through a not-so-secret passageway in the back and hosts everything from live indie rock to burlesque shows.

FACES OF AUSTIN

HARRISON EPPRIGHT

MANAGER OF VISITOR SERVICES AND TOUR AMBASSADOR FOR VISIT AUSTIN

Native Austinite Harrison Eppright serves as manager of Visitor Services and tour ambassador for Visit Austin.

He describes the local LGBTQ community as politically active, proud and diverse and notes that he loves the fact that the scene is spread throughout the city rather than being confined to one neighborhood.

Harrison has many recommendations for visitors to Austin but urges all guests to take a tour of the Texas State Capitol to get a feel for the city's history and identity. Before or after the tour, he suggests a stop at 1886 Café and Bakery in the historic Driskill Hotel on Sixth Street.

WEST SIXTH STREET

There's a lot to see and do in this neighborhood that's close enough to downtown to feel lively but just far enough away to feel relaxed.

Follow the path of Walnut Creek on this eight-mile trail. Its paved roads weave through forests and parks making it an ideal spot for bikers, walkers and runners alike.

AUSTIN BOULDERING PROJECT

While rock climbing technically counts as an outdoor activity, this state-of-the-art facility on the east side lets you partake indoors, which is great if you're visiting during the summer.

MOUNT BONNELL

If you're looking for a short hike with incredible views, try Mount Bonnell. Grab some snacks and enjoy the breathtaking picnic areas.

MUELLER LAKE PARK

A popular destination for locals, this is a great place to relax. Pack a lunch, admire the public art or walk the trail loop as you overlook the scenic 6.5-acre pond.
Insider Tip: Visit the farmer's market Sundays 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

FACES OF AUSTIN
SHELDON DARNELL
PRESIDENT OF AUSTIN BLACK PRIDE

As president of Austin Black Pride, Sheldon and his team curate events for the local black LGBTQ community.

His top-three recommendations for those visiting Austin are to (1) float the Guadalupe River, (2) check out Trudy's Tex Mex during happy hour for Mexican martinis and (3) rent a bike and explore Austin's east side – specifically Cesar Chavez to 11th Street.

For go-to LGBTQ spots, Sheldon recommends checking out The Austin Chronicle's Gay Place section to find an "underground" party or a one-off event being held around town.

FAMILY FUN

If you're on a family trip, here are a few spots guaranteed to keep the youngsters happy.

AMY'S ICE CREAMS

With 12 locations around town, you're never far from this Austin original that has something for everyone: handcrafted artisan ice creams (try the Mexican vanilla), dairy-free fruit ices and frozen yogurts.

Insider Tip: Check the website to find a location with a playground, so your kids can run wild.

AUSTIN NATURE AND SCIENCE CENTER

On the western edge of Zilker Park, admission is free for kids of all ages to check out wildlife exhibits and to dig for fossils in the dino pit.

CYPRESS VALLEY CANOPY TOURS

Take the family for an eco-adventure, ziplining through the canopy of 100-foot-tall cypress trees just 30 miles west of downtown Austin. After your tour through the treetops, enjoy a picnic onsite and go for a swim in their private lake or clear water pool.

FAMILY-FRIENDLY LIVE MUSIC

The kids can experience the Live Music Capital of the World®, too! Take the whole family to all-ages venues like Radio Coffee & Beer, Threadgill's, "Unplugged at the Grove" and "Blues on the Green" in Zilker Park. You can even find kids shows at Cherrywood Coffeehouse on Sunday mornings.

NLAND SURF PARK

Hang ten at the largest wave lagoon in the world. This cutting-edge surf park artificially generates incredibly realistic swells for surfers of all levels (ages five and up) and even offers lessons for newbies.

OASIS

Deemed "The Sunset Capital of Texas," The Oasis on Lake Travis has it all: food, drinks, music and views. Adults can sip cocktails at the cantina while kids play at the Oasis Arcade, and the impressive views make for a stunning family photo.

THINKERY

Austin's version of a children's museum, this place is filled with fun exhibits that promote creative problem-solving, inventing and hands-on learning.

Insider Tip: After exploring, head across the street for a sweet treat from one of the local food trucks.

ZILKER PARK

This 351-acre recreation area is home to natural, spring-fed swimming pool Barton Springs as well as kayaking, multiple playgrounds, volleyball courts, huge fields for kite-flying and the Zilker Zephyr, a miniature train that goes around the park.

Insider Tip: Train rides are cash only, so show up prepared.

Zilker Kite Festival

NOT SO BASIC BRUNCH

In this section, we pay homage to the most important meal of the week. Austin has tons of incredible brunch spots perfect for hanging out with friends, sipping (and snapping) mimosas and pretending you're going to do something productive that day.

Austin Black Pride hosts Brunch Club four times a year, so check their Facebook events page to see if one's going on while you're in town.

FONDA SAN MIGUEL

The brunch buffet at this interior Mexican restaurant is a high-end smorgasbord of cochinita pibil, ceviche, mole and desserts to die for.

HILLSIDE FARMACY

Grab a table on the patio and start your day with unique specialties like their wasabi bloody Mary or ham and cheddar cheese grits.

BLUE DAHLIA

At this trendy bistro on the east side, you can dine al fresco while you sip mimosas made with orange juice, blackberry, pomegranate or lavender.

COUNTER CAFÉ

Rejuvenate after a night out with their traditional breakfast dishes and bottomless local coffee.

SOUTH CONGRESS CAFÉ

With a lively atmosphere, fantastic location and treats like carrot cake French toast, it's no wonder they're consistently packed on weekends.

WU CHOW

For something a little different, check out their dim sum brunch featuring Shanghai soup dumplings, scallion pancakes and more.

Insider Tip: Book ahead or arrive early.

FACES OF AUSTIN

CURRAN NAULT

FOUNDER AND ARTISTIC DIRECTOR OF OUTSIDER FEST

Curran is a longtime Austin resident and the founder and artistic director of the LGBTQ transmedia arts festival, OUTsider Fest.

His top-three recommended activities for visitors are (1) grabbing a drink and chilling on the outdoor patio of the Butterfly Bar at the VORTEX, (2) enjoying the delicious dim sum brunch at Shanghai and (3) moving and grooving with a body-/queer-positive workout at Transform.

Curran's go-to LGBTQ spots in Austin are Sahara Lounge for Lesbian Wedding, a monthly congregate-and-chill event, and of course, Cheer Up Charlies any time.

If you only have a couple of days in Austin, here's a plan for how to make the most of it.

TWO-DAY ITINERARY

Red River, CREDIT: Matt Crump

TWO-DAY ITINERARY

Day 1

Start the day with a tasty vegetarian breakfast at Bouldin Creek Café on South First Street and keep an eye out for the peacocks that roam the neighborhood.

Then, head to nearby Jo's Coffee to snap a photo at the “i love you so much” mural before strolling along South Congress Avenue and doing a little shopping at one of the many boutiques like Service Menswear, Cove Boutique and Tesoros Trading Company.

Once you've worked up a healthy appetite, stop into the original Hopdoddy Burger Bar location to wash down a delicious burger and fries with a local draught beer.

For some postprandial relaxation, head to Zilker Park where you can laze under the trees or take a rejuvenating dip in Barton Springs Pool.

At dinnertime, make the move downtown for a bite at Lamberts Downtown Barbecue or Second Bar + Kitchen before you end the night with dancing at Rain or Highland or, if you're looking for something more laid back, just chilling at an east side bar like Yellow Jacket Social Club, Drinks or Violet Crown Social Club.

Day 2

You'll probably want to take it slow to begin with, so settle in for a relaxing chat about last night over breakfast and coffee at Cenote, Flat Track or Bennu Coffee.

Then pop over to campus to check out The Blanton Museum of Art and the can't-miss installation “Austin” by LGBTQ artist Ellsworth Kelly.

While you're in the area, head up to North Loop Boulevard to check out one of the many vintage shops like Blue Velvet, Room Service or Ermine, and do some record shopping at Breakaway Records.

If all the shopping has left you thirsty, you're in luck. You can grab a beer at Workhorse Bar on North Loop or head to nearby Brewtorium, a local German-influenced brewery, restaurant and beer garden.

By the time evening rolls around, take the operation east for a delicious dinner at Contigo, Buenos Aires Café or LGBTQ-owned Jacoby's.

Then, it's off to Red River for drinks, live music and a possible drag show at Cheer Up Charlies or Elysium before ending the night with an after-hours dance party at Barbarella.
